

Information for Virtual Learners

Virtual learners at HMS are all using Edgenuity for classes. There is a link to Edgenuity posted on the homepage of the Headland Middle School website on the right-hand side. If your learner needs academic support in any of their classes, please contact the following teachers, depending on the class:

English/Language Arts: Cmoore@henrycountyboe.org

History/Social Studies: Msnell@henrycountyboe.org

Science: Lwatson@henrycountyboe.org

Math: Athomas@henrycountyboe.org

For other issues such as pacing, attendance or technical difficulties, please contact Mrs. Dede Coe at our central office. Her email is Dcoe@henrycountyboe.org

Remember, there are now due dates in for student work in Edgenuity. This will help learners stay on track to complete their courses. If your student is behind, the remote option is designed (for attendance purposes) so that working parents can utilize the weekend to support their student. Also, if your learner scores below 50% on a quiz, they will be unable to move forward to the next lesson. Resetting these quizzes will be done after normal school hours. We have a team of staff who review Edgenuity classes throughout the day when possible, but our virtual teachers are also serving students in the traditional classroom. You may send reset requests to remoteoption@henrycountyboe.org with the understanding that there may be a delay of 2-3 hours on reset requests.

If your virtual learner receives special services, Ms. Julie Sanders is over our special services for virtual learners. Please contact her if you have any questions at Jsanders@henrycountyboe.org. She is using the Schoology website to work with students. There is a link and directions for how to login to Schoology on the homepage of the Headland Middle School website on the right-hand side of the page.

If your learner is in need of Wifi access, please check out the link on the homepage of the Headland Middle School website for the list of locations and times our Wifi-enabled buses will be available and where they will be parked.
